

Writing sample: 1.1 Human

This is the first sample of the analysis. The topic will be about describing benefits of regular exercise and especially how it benefits an individual in their daily life.

By exercising regularly, the effects can be seen physically, but also mentally. Regular movement throughout the day keeps stress levels stable and can help you build and maintain healthy routines. Walking to work instead of taking a car is an easy way to keep you active in the middle of a hectic life.

Analysis report for the writing sample

