

Writing sample: 1.2 AI retyped

This is the first sample of the analysis. The topic will focus on describing the benefits of regular exercise and especially how it can benefit an individual in their daily life.

By exercising regularly, the benefits can be noticed physically, but also mentally. Regular movement throughout the day helps keep stress levels stable and can support you in building and maintaining healthy routines. Walking to work instead of taking a car is a simple way to stay active during a busy life.

Analysis report for the writing sample

